Message from the Chief Executive Director on the International Workers Day 2021

Committed to a World of Work with Justice and Dignity

We, at Ifakara Health Institute, highly value the historic struggles and relentless effort by our staff and other workers aimed to make the world a better place. In observing the International Workers Day today, we would like to re-affirm our commitment to continue to open to our staff a world of better future and opportunities in line with the International Labor Organization (ILO)'s promise of ensuring "a world of work with justice and dignity."

This year again, we mark this Day with the COVID-19 pandemic still in our midst. Therefore, we should remind ourselves on the importance of always taking all the necessary precautions by following recommended guidelines; observe the advises given by health experts and comply with the directives issued by authorities. We should keep our guards on until we're sure that we're free of the pandemic because no one is safe until everyone is safe.

The IHI Management acknowledges and celebrates the amazing efforts of all our staff and partners. We honor your efforts and salute your hard work. And, we greatly value your contributions in any position that you serve, believing that, with sustained commitment and dedication, you have the power to change this world and live our mission of improving the health and wellbeing of people.

Happy International Workers Day!
